From the Desk of Father Reither

How good is our God who gives us the joy of celebrating Christmas year after year? So much time and effort goes into preparing for this celebration.

We have been journeying through these four weeks of spiritual preparation throughout the Advent season along with all of those other things that go into the making of a proper celebration: buying gifts, preparing food, sending cards etc. Perhaps even for some of us there is still more preparation to come, but now as we come to the end of our time of preparation, we must remember to take a deep breath and refocus ourselves to the fact that it is God who comes to us, who gives us His own gift: The birth of our God made man, who came to redeem us from our sins.

Yes, the world was given a great gift that Christmas night over two thousand years ago and it has never been the same since. The Gift of the Child of Bethlehem endures to our own day. Perhaps more and more though, it seems like this gift has been forgotten or ignored by many in our world. And some are even advocating that perhaps the world no longer needs the Christ Child or that His message is no longer relevant these two thousand years later.

But when gratitude is lost or forgotten, so also is the gift in danger of being lost with it. We must recall these things to our minds. Why did our God become man and what was the gift that he gave to the world?

You would have suffered eternal death, had he not been born in time. Never would you have been freed from sinful flesh, had he not taken on himself the likeness of sinful flesh. You would have suffered everlasting unhappiness, had it not been for this mercy. You would never have returned to life, had he not shared your death. You would have been lost if he had not hastened to your aid. You would have perished, had he not come. Let us then rejoice in this grace, so that our glorying may bear witness to our good conscience by which we glory, not in ourselves, but in the Lord. That is why Scripture says: He is my glory, the one who lifts up my head. For what greater grace could God have made to dawn on us than to make his only Son become the son of man, so that a son of man might in his turn become the son of God?... Ask if this were merited; ask for its reason, for its justification, and see whether you will find any other answer but sheer grace.

— St. Augustine

All of these great gifts we have received from God by his being born in a stable at Bethlehem. What a cold world it would be without Love, without Forgiveness, without Salvation. And what could possibly be our response to such a gift? Only Joy, pure joy. That was the message of the angel to the shepherds: “Behold I bring you tidings of Great joy”.

If it has been hard to feel joy this year for you, remember that the Kingdom of God can only be entered by becoming like a little child. As Charles Dickens put it in a Christmas Choir: “it is good to be children sometimes, and never better than at Christmas, when its mighty Founder was a child Himself.” Look to children because they know how to celebrate Christmas with Joy. The great anticipation of receiving presents is but a reflection of the great present God has given us: his Love, his Mercy, and his own life within us.

Perhaps there is no better way to remind ourselves of all of this than by looking into the manger with our own eyes. Since we have received so great a gift freely and without merit, let us also seek to share his love and joy with others as we enter into another Christmas season.

May God bless you all,
Fr. Reither
